Spend the day exploring George Washington's beloved Mount Vernon Estate on the banks of the Potomac River. While at Mount Vernon, experience an introduction to George Washington through the film "We Fight to Be Free" at the Ford Orientation Center. Following the film, enter the historic upper area on a self-guided tour through the blacksmith, slave quarters, greenhouse, outbuildings and the beautifully decorative upper garden. This afternoon enjoy a lunch of classic American favorites in the colonial inspired setting at the Mount Vernon Inn Restaurant. Following lunch make your way to the famed mansion for your guided tour. Built in 1735 by George Washington's father Augustine, at 11,028 square feet and 21 rooms, it is known to be one of America's most iconic homes. Your tour of Mount Vernon reveals a unique picture of the colonial American life. Before departing for home embark on a narrated sightseeing cruise (if available) on the Potomac River where you'll experience Mount Vernon from a different perspective. Learn about the river's history and discover how it contributed to Washington's business ventures.
